AI-Prowler

Remote Work Policy

Effective Date:	August 2026	Policy Owner:	Human Resources
Last Revised:	September 2026	Applies To:	All Eligible Employees

1. Purpose

AI-Prowler is committed to providing flexible work arrangements that support employee productivity, work-life balance, and operational continuity. This Remote Work Policy establishes the standards, expectations, and responsibilities that govern remote and hybrid work arrangements across the organization.

2. Scope

This policy applies to all full-time and part-time employees of AI-Prowler who have been approved for a remote or hybrid work arrangement. Eligibility is determined by role requirements, performance standing, and business needs, and is subject to manager and HR approval.

3. Eligibility

Employees may be considered for remote work if they meet all of the following criteria:

- Have completed a minimum of 90 days of employment with AI-Prowler.
- Maintain a satisfactory performance rating with no active disciplinary actions.
- Hold a role that can be performed effectively outside of an office environment.
- Have a suitable, secure home or remote workspace with reliable internet connectivity.

Remote work eligibility is not guaranteed and may be modified or revoked at any time based on business needs or performance concerns.

4. Work Arrangements

AI-Prowler offers the following remote work arrangements, subject to approval:

- Fully Remote: The employee works from an approved remote location full-time. Attendance at the office may still be required for scheduled team meetings, training, or company events.

• Hybrid: The employee splits time between a remote location and the company office according to a schedule agreed upon with their manager.

• Temporary Remote: A short-term arrangement (typically up to 30 days) for situations such as travel, health, or family needs. Requires manager approval and does not constitute a permanent arrangement.

5. Remote Workspace Requirements

Employees working remotely are responsible for maintaining a safe, professional, and productive work environment. The remote workspace must:

• Be free from distractions during scheduled work hours.

• Have a stable, high-speed internet connection (minimum 25 Mbps download recommended).

• Be secure — confidential company information must not be visible or audible to unauthorized individuals.

• Meet basic health and safety requirements as defined by applicable regulations.

AI-Prowler reserves the right to request a self-certification that the remote workspace meets these standards.

6. Equipment & Technology

AI-Prowler will provide approved employees with the necessary equipment to perform their job duties remotely, which may include a laptop, headset, and access to required software platforms. Employees are responsible for:

• Using company-issued equipment primarily for work purposes.

• Keeping equipment secure and in good working condition.

• Reporting lost, stolen, or damaged equipment to IT immediately.

• Returning all company-issued equipment upon separation of employment.

Personal devices used for work purposes must comply with AI-Prowler's IT and data security standards, including the use of approved VPN and multi-factor authentication where required.

7. Availability & Communication

Remote employees are expected to maintain clear, consistent communication and be accessible during core business hours. Employees must:

• Be available and responsive during their scheduled work hours via company-approved channels (email, Slack, Teams, or phone as applicable).

• Attend all required meetings, including video calls, unless prior notice of absence is given.

- Notify their manager promptly if they are unable to work or will be unavailable during scheduled hours.
- Keep their calendar up to date and reflect accurate availability.

Core collaboration hours are designated by the employee's department and should be confirmed with the direct manager at the time of arrangement approval.

8. Data Security & Confidentiality

Employees working remotely must adhere to AI-Prowler's information security policies at all times. This includes:

- Using only approved, encrypted connections (VPN) when accessing company systems remotely.
- Never sharing login credentials or company data with unauthorized individuals.
- Locking devices when not in use and using strong, unique passwords.
- Storing all work-related files on company-approved platforms — not personal cloud services.
- Reporting any suspected security breach or data exposure to IT immediately.

Violation of AI-Prowler's data security standards may result in the revocation of remote work privileges and/or disciplinary action up to and including termination.

9. Performance & Accountability

Remote employees are held to the same performance standards as on-site employees. Managers will conduct regular check-ins to assess productivity, communication, and goal completion. Remote work arrangements may be reviewed, modified, or revoked if:

- Performance or output declines below expectations.
- The employee fails to maintain required availability or responsiveness.
- Business or team needs require increased on-site presence.

Employees are expected to track and accurately report their hours worked in accordance with AI-Prowler's timekeeping procedures.

10. Expenses

AI-Prowler will not routinely reimburse employees for standard home office expenses such as internet service, electricity, or personal office furniture unless specifically agreed upon in writing prior to the start of the arrangement. Any approved expense reimbursements must follow AI-Prowler's standard expense reporting process.

11. Policy Modifications & Revocation

AI-Prowler reserves the right to modify, suspend, or revoke any remote work arrangement at any time with reasonable notice. Changes to this policy will be communicated to all affected employees. Continued participation in a remote work arrangement constitutes acceptance of this policy and any updates.

12. Acknowledgment

All employees approved for remote work must sign an acknowledgment confirming they have read, understood, and agree to comply with this Remote Work Policy. Signed acknowledgments are retained in the employee's personnel file.